'Save farmland at housing site'

BY JO DEEKS

FARM and woodland at the centre of a major new housing development should be preserved – and even turned into a tourist attraction.

That was the vision shared by residents who went along to a community workshop at the weekend. It was organised by Bidwells on behalf of developers who want to build 2,500 homes over the next 10 years on land to the north east of Haverhill.

Great Wilsey Farm forms part of the land already zoned for development in the St Edmundsbury Local Plan and includes a listed ancient moat.

Cllr Anne Gower, a member of Haverhill Town Council and St Edmundsbury Borough Council, was pleased at the number of people who went along on Saturday to share their ideas.

She said: "It was a good meeting with lots of people coming up with the same ideas but in slightly different ways or areas.

"There was a mention of parkland and a town farm type project, but obviously this is all very much in the early stages and there will need to be more consultation and the whole planning process to be gone through.

Tiny tots party as funds come in for new floor

CHILDREN enjoyed a rainbow themed party as part of a double celebration – a cash donation to pay for new flooring and a good Ofsted report.

Youngsters at the Cartwheels Daycare Nursery in Greenfields Way, Haverhill, had a visit on Monday from Charles Gurteen, from Haverhill Round Table, who handed over £400 towards the new floor.

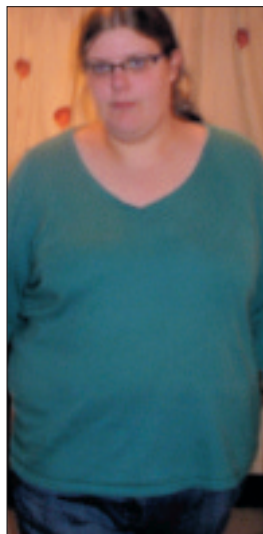

Cllr Phillip French also plans to donate £2,520 from his Suffolk County Council Locality Fund to pay for the work.

Manager Faye Anderson said: "We are very grateful for the money. It will mean we can have a completely new non-slip flooring throughout and a door between the two rooms, which will make it much more flexible for the children to use."

The group has 36 pre-school children on its books, as well as 14 babies and toddlers. It also offers Government-funded sessions and places are available.

Super slimmer sheds six stone

Mum Sam Last has lost a bumper six stone in a year after battling with her weight for most of her life.

Sam, 24, weighed 17st 8lb last March, and was struggling to cope with her lively 2-year-old son Oliver.

Sam, of Pipers Close, Haverhill, said: "I have always been very big. I was a size 20 when I was 11.

"I started to lose a bit on my own but then I got stuck. Then I got diagnosed with fibromyalgia and had a lot of trouble with muscular pain, stiffness and fatigue.

"I just wanted to be able to play with my son and I did not want him to have a 'fat' mum in the playground. I had to do something for my health and for my son.

"I have changed my eating habits completely. I still have a bag of crisps as a treat now and then, but I don't use oils and I don't cover my food with butter any more.

"A lot of it is quite simple things. It is difficult at first, but then you get used to it."

Sam said: "Not carrying six-and-a-half stones around makes an awful lot of difference. I am a lot more confident, but I am not completely there yet, I would like to lose another stone-and-a-half.

"I can look at myself in the mirror now and not hate what I see. I could never buy clothes in town before, I had to go to outside shops. Now I can shop anywhere.

"The most important thing is that I am healthier. I did not want to die of a heart attack when I am 30 – my father had his first heart attack when he was 39."

Sam is a member of a SlimmingWorld club in Haverhill. Together with another club in the town and one in Clare, members lose an average of seven-and-a-half-

Parents' pledge to fight school bus cuts

AN ACTION group has vowed to fight plans to cut or remove subsidised school transport.

Angry parents met in Bury St Edmunds last week to form the group, Parents Against Public Transport Cuts.

Chairman Ria Crosbie said the group wanted to hear from affected parents in Haverhill and Clare.

Parents currently pay around £400 a year for their children's transport, but that could be set to rise to £1,000 a child.

Mrs Crosbie said: "It is just not affordable and a lot of parents are going to have to move their children to other schools.

"There are currently five double decker buses a day going from Sudbury, which is around 400 children, and at least one bus a day from Haverhill.

"St Benedict's Roman Catholic upper school (in Bury St Edmunds) is our local catchment area Catholic school and they are saying we should forgo the faith side of our children's education and send them to a state school.

"Some will choose not to send their children to the school they are currently attending purely because of money, and that seems a shame in this day and age."

A Suffolk County Council spokeswoman said: "The council is facing an unprecedented challenge in terms of the financial savings that need to be made over the next four years.

"We have therefore had to look at all aspects of our spending, including home-to-school transport.

"We have recently begun a consultation on changes to our home-to-school transport arrangements which are open for comment until March 25. A final decision will be made in May. We will be taking all the views into account before any decision is taken."

The action group wants to hear from parents about how much extra they are expected to pay and whether they plan to take their children out of school. Email Ria.Crosbie@btinternet.com

Book a time for talk on libraries

A SERIES of one-to-one meetings have been organised to discuss the future of libraries in Suffolk.

A number of village libraries could close or be passed over to community groups to run under the cost-cutting plans of Suffolk County Council.

But Cllr Judy Terry said: "Suffolk County Council is not trying to close libraries. It is entirely wrong to suggest, or even create the perception, that this is happening.

"What we do have to do is save at least 30 per cent of our libraries budget. We're therefore trying to find a way of securing the future of Suffolk's libraries so that we don't have to close them.

"The days of county councils running public services as they always have are on the way out. We're looking for new and creative ways of running Suffolk's libraries, which nowadays serves a much broader function than they used to, and we need the help of Suffolk people. I'm urging everyone to let us know if you think there is a way to run your local library in a different and more cost-effective way.

"I want people to know that this is about securing the future of our libraries. We're just looking for the right way to do it."

A consultation about the future of the county's libraries continues until April 30.

People who want a one-to-one meeting are being asked to book an appointment.

A meeting at Haverhill library will be on Wednesday, March 23, between 10.30am and noon. Call (01440) 702638 to book an appointment.

Clare library will have a meeting on the same day between 2.30pm and 4pm. Call (01787) 277702 for an appointment.

First class students rewarded at 'joyful' event

STUDENTS with learning difficulties and disabilities have celebrated their achievements over the year on a Springboard course.

Young people from Haverhill were among students at West Suffolk College, Bury St Edmunds, who attended an awards ceremony.

Richard Carter, the college's chairman of governors, presented certificates to more than 30 learners for a variety of accomplishments, from completing the Duke of Edinburgh Award to crossing roads safely.

Susan Hollins, Head of School of Foundation Studies, and Colin Shaw, Head of Faculty of Humanities and Health, were on hand to applaud these achievements.

The students were joined by friends, family and the college staff members who have supported them in their learning.

Marianne Beamish, Springboard course director, said: "This is always such a joyful event. Every learner has earned a certificate or award.

"Many have made huge progress, both in their life skills and in their social skills.

"It is very rewarding for us all to see what can be achieved when students have great support from their parents and the opportunities to develop and learn which are offered in a college setting." Students who received awards included Mitchell Doughty, Zoe Murfitt, Christopher McKinley, Joshua

Garner, Dawn Page, Sarah Wright and Toby Cook, all from Haverhill.

Last chance to nominate for awards

THERE is still time for the public to vote in two categories of this year's Haverhill Business awards.

The Customer Care and Service and Employer of the Year awards will be chosen by public vote. The closing date for entries is 5pm tomorrow, and voting forms can be collected from the Weekly News office in Queen Street, Haverhill, or vote online at www.suffolkchamber.co.uk/haverhill Nominations in all other award categories also close tomorrow. There are awards for best: Large Business; Small Business; Retailer of the Year; Export Achievement; Use of Technology; Young Entrepreneur (age 18-25); Employee of the Year; New Business; Environmental Awareness; Marketing Strategy of the Year; and Business of the Year.

A gala dinner will be held at Chiford Hall in Linton on Saturday, May 14 to announce the winners.

Fury at country park hand-over

CIVIC leaders have hit out at Suffolk County Council's plans to withdraw funding for a popular country park.

Keith Haisman, chairman of Clare Parish Council, said he felt "totally let down" by the local authority's decision to axe funding for all its parks from April 1, including the Clare Country Park, saying it was an "abdication of responsibility".

The move will save £360,000 a year and is part of its widespread divestment policy, where public facilities or amenities are passed to other groups or organisations.

Mr Haisman told the Weekly News the decision was rushed, short-sighted and failed to acknowledge the park's central importance to the town's local economy, recreation and heritage.

He said: "Clare Country Park isn't some remote rural estate – it is right in the middle of the town. It's where children go to play, people walk their dogs and attracts many visitors who spend money in the town's shops.

"It costs about £80,000 to run each year and that is before you count the expenditure needed to maintain the ranger's house, four bridges and a visitor centre.

"It also has a river running through it and a lake, so any group taking over its operation will face some big challenges, particularly in terms of safety, liability and insurance.

"The county council has completely failed to engage with us and communication has been very poor."

If no operator steps forward to run the park by September, it could be mothballed. Exactly how this will be done is unclear, says Mr Haisman, who will put his concerns to a council scrutiny committee on Wednesday.

On a charity taking over the park, he added: "I don't think a group like the National Trust would be interested. The vast majority of the land is covered by covenants which guarantee public access to the park. You can't just stop people going there."

Residents' appeal to protect farm at homes site

"We looked at access points, community provision, where the houses should go, density levels, topography, cycle routes, pathways, offices and discussed the impact on the town and schools and jobs."

One of those attending the session, resident Chris Cullum, said many people wanted to see houses built around Great Wilsey Farm and not towards Calford Green.

He said: "A lot of people wanted to see the farm preserved and something done with it and the woodland, to perhaps create something along the lines of the East Town Park.

"They are talking about a screen of trees along the ridge line so that the new development would be screened from Kedington and cut out some of the light from the new houses."

Comments on the developments can be made until 5pm on Monday, March 14 at northeasthaverhill@bidwells.co.uk

Stars set to take to the stage

YOUNG performers from around the district will be taking part in a lively musical production at the Theatre Royal, in Bury St Edmunds, later this month.

They will appear in the Irving Stage Company production of Crazy For You, packed with memorable Gershwin tunes, which tells the story of Bobby Child, a well-to-do 1930's playboy whose dream in life is to dance.

Emily Mizen, 24, of Ashen, is playing the role of Polly, in her first production with the company and leading man is Marc Kerr, 26, from Newmarket, who is planning to move to London in May to pursue acting professionally. The director is Sian Couture, of Barton Mills.

The show runs from Tuesday, March 22 to Saturday, March 26, at 7.30pm, with a matinee at 2.30pm on March 26.

For tickets, call the Theatre Royal box office on (01284) 769505 or go to www.theatreroyal.org

Council chief under fire over free trips and 'life coaching'

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A COUNCIL boss making £42 million in cuts has come under fire for spending more than £14,000 on a "life coach" and accepting free trips to the United States from a company with a controversial multi-million pound council contract.

Andrea Hill, 46, chief executive of Suffolk County Council, is one of the country's highest paid council chiefs.

There was controversy over her salary of nearly £220,000 – £70,000 more than her predecessor – when she was appointed three years ago.

Mrs Hill, who worked at Cambridge City Council between 1994 and 1999 where she was assistant chief executive, is paid more than the Prime Minister.

Among the cuts being made by her council is the closure, in May, of the Newmarket household waste recycling site which has led to protests from residents.

A Freedom of Information

request revealed that Mrs Hill spent £14,188 of taxpayers' money to a "professional coach" who charges more than £500 an hour.

In a new revelation highlighted by a national newspaper it is reported she also had two week-long visits to the United States paid for by BT.

The council is in a partnership with BT and Mid-Suffolk District Council to operate Customer Services Direct, an organisation which was set up to handle bill payments to the councils and provide information about services.

The cost of the organisation has risen from £300 million over 10 years to £427 million.

A spokeswoman for TaxPayers' Alliance said: "It is crucial that those spending taxpayers' money choose the contracts that give the best value – not the ones that give the best perks."

Cllr Bill Burch, former mayor of Newmarket, said: "I think it's bad for someone who needs an adviser to tell her how to do her job to tell us we've got to close our waste tip. If they gave half her salary they could keep the tip open."

Sally Marlow, the county council's head of HR, said: "Andrea Hill is responsible for a programme of significant change and delivering £125 million of savings over the next four years."

"The chief executive receives personal development to support her in her role."

"The amount spent on this personal development has been over a three-year period and is in line with training normally provided to senior officers."

Family's highland walk in memory of Jessica

THE family of a teenager who died from bone cancer just before Christmas are putting on their walking boots for a walk through the Scottish Highlands in her memory.

Shirley and Mic Gower, of Arrandene Road, Haverhill, their daughter Isabelle, 12, and seven other family and friends will walk the 96-mile West Highland Way from Glasgow to Fort William over seven days from May 21.

Jessica Gower was just 14 years old when she died on December 8 from osteosarcoma, the most common form of primary bone cancer. Her family hope to raise at least £3,000 for the Bone Cancer Research Trust, in the hope of one day preventing others suffering as she did.

Mr Gower said: "We had booked up to do the walk 15 years ago, but Shirley found out she was pregnant with Jessica so it was postponed. We always said we would go back and do it with the girls, so we decided to do it in Jess's memory."

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

"There is very little money around for research into primary bone cancer because it affects such a small number of people. However, it mainly affects children and young people between the ages of 10-20, with around 400 children diagnosed each year in the UK. It is a devastating disease and tragic for all concerned."

Jessica's illness began when she was 13 with a pain in her hip, which at first was put down to growing pains, but later a tumour was discovered. Jessica immediately began treatment, including a hip replacement, gruelling chemotherapy and finally radiotherapy.

Mrs Gower said: "Jess was a beautiful girl who was full of life."

"She was positive, funny, clever and kind. We are all devastated at having to face the future without her. Jess was remarkable throughout her illness. She endured very high doses of intense chemotherapy."

"She was determined to keep fighting and she never complained. Her strength and courage amazed us all. We managed to have a fantastic summer last year. We celebrated Jess's birthday with tea at the Ritz and had a wonderful family holiday in Italy."

"We would like to thank all of our family and friends who have supported us through this difficult time. In particular we would like to thank the staff on Ward C2 and the Paediatric Day Unit at Addenbrooke's Hospital and the Suffolk community nursing team for everything they have done for our family."

"The walk has given us a focus and we are really proud of Issy for taking part. Not all 12-year-olds would want to walk 20 miles in a day, but she wants to do it for her sister."

Shirley thanked her former colleagues at Kerry Foods for sponsoring the cost of the walk for her three family members.

The others will cover their own costs, so that all money donated goes to the charity.

To sponsor the family and their friends, visit www.justgiving.com/Shirley-Gower, or send a donation to the Bone Cancer Research Trust at Suite 7, Gledhow Mount Mansion, Roxholme Grove, Leeds LS7 4JJ, mentioning Jessica's name.

Find out more about research park

FEEDBACK received on plans to create a new research park will be outlined by the developer at a business meeting.

Nic Rumsey, director of Carisbrooke Investments and owner of the Days Inn Haverhill, will provide an update on the proposals for the Haverhill Research Park at the next meeting of the Bestofhaverhill group on Thursday, March 17 at 10am-11.30am.

Carisbrooke recently engaged in an extensive consultation exercise with the general public and stakeholders.

This began with a launch in January and a display on the project, with the opportunity to leave feedback, which was available at the hotel until February 4. The views will be presented to St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

Mr Rumsey will be presenting an overview of the feedback and talking about the next steps for the project and his vision for the Haverhill Research Park.

Elaine Carr, owner of Thebestofhaverhill, said: "We are in a fortunate position in Haverhill to have companies such as Carisbrooke Investments wanting to invest in the town."

"In addition to the short-term construction opportunities that the establishment of the Haverhill Research Park will bring, it also has the potential to create employment prospects for people with skills in the hi-tech and science-based industries."

"Whilst we should be very proud of Haverhill's strong manufacturing and engineering pedigree, an increase in the number of hi-tech businesses can only complement what we already have to offer."

Mr Rumsey has a track record in Haverhill with the development of the Haverhill Business Park, and the Days Inn Hotel.

To attend the free event on March 17, call Elaine Carr on (01440) 710158 or email haverhill@thebestof.co.uk by tomorrow.

Anti-social behaviour top priority

ANTI-SOCIAL behaviour, cars parking on pavements and dogs on the loose, are some of the issues to be tackled by police Safer Neighbourhood Teams.

The latest priority setting meeting at Haverhill was held on Tuesday, and was attended by 38 people. It was agreed to continue extra patrols to tackle anti-social behaviour in the Leiston Road area and at Strassbourg Square, which had been raised by residents at previous meetings.

New priorities were agreed included tackling anti-social behaviour in Wortham Place, the Aeroplane Park and the Railway Walk behind Tesco on Friday and Saturday nights.

Complaints were also raised about car parking on pavements in several locations within the town, and Shetland Road/Chalkstone Way was specifically targeted for action by the SNT.

There was discussion regarding dogs not being under control in public places, including Railway Walk, Thurlow Place and the Recreation Ground, and the SNT will try to bring this situation under control.

Please save school bus

Sir, I am a single parent of two children, one of which goes to Priory School (for special needs). We have been so blessed with having a school bus pick him up and return him safe daily. I was extremely upset to see that they want to take this service away, as this would mean I would have NO way of getting Keagan to and from school (Parents in plea over school bus – Weekly News, March 3). He would NOT be capable of using normal transportation, as he suffers with self confidence, is extremely vulnerable and gets confused easily. He is a 12-year-old boy, with a mind of an 8-year-old. He would never cope. He feels safe with the staff on the bus, and only recently has started to come out of his shell with them. If they take this service away it would be detrimental to Keagan's education, as he needs the special care that Priory offers as he does not cope in a mainstream school. The thought of not having this service any more is terrifying, as I know I am not the only parent who relies on it. I live and work in Haverhill. Please reconsider this service to our children who desperately need it, their little futures are in your hands.

Keep on using recycling centre

Sir, I know that across Suffolk there has been concern about the changes the county council is having to make to recycling centres. But on February 16, the council announced which of Suffolk's 18 sites it has to close – and Haverhill wasn't one of them.

The county council has had to look at a number of factors when deciding which centres it can afford to keep open – including user numbers, location and, of course, the cost of running each site. It was a tough decision, but one that needed to be made to address Suffolk County Council's reduction in central Government funding.

The important thing for all of us Haverhill residents now is to keep reducing, reusing and recycling and using the facilities we have.

Cllr Anne Gower
Suffolk County Councillor for Haverhill East and Kedington

Do we need a town council?

Sir, Yet again we seem to have our unpaid town councillors making wrong decisions from the wrong advice given to them about the future of the town council and the Haverhill Arts Centre. The choice given to them seemed to be either reduce the centre staff by 10 to 20 or pass the cost on to residents by increasing their portion of council tax.

Bearing in mind the hardship we are all facing with increased food and fuel prices, isn't it time our councillors started thinking outside the advice being given and started thinking for themselves about ways of saving costs?

Perhaps having some meetings during the day, many only lasting 30 minutes, to save paying overtime rates paid to staff for evening meetings.

Don't replace the town clerk when he retires in a few months time but consider sharing his duties with another town. Bury St Edmunds and Forest Heath District Council are saving thousands of pounds by sharing costs.

It's not 'save the arts centre', that's not going anywhere as the borough council will keep that open. It's more like 'save the town council' that's costing all the money and hiding behind the arts centre – a council that has no money, no authority and seems to have an interest in the advice being given to councillors. Do we really need a town council which costs around half a million pounds a year to run and seems more interested in keeping the arts centre than keeping Place Court care home open?

Wouldn't it be a good idea to add a few questions to the ballot sheets in the May elections, perhaps a 'tick the box' to save either the arts centre or Place Court, though it seems doubtful if those in the town council who make decisions would take any notice of the result.

Sell-out concert benefits hospice

BIG band Rinaldi Express played a sell-out concert which raised almost £800 for their local hospice.

The evening of music, food and dancing was in aid of St Nicholas Hospice Care. The band played sounds from the 60s to the 90s at the Taste of China restaurant in Birdbrook, on Saturday, February 26.

The event was a sell-out and Dave Rinaldi, of Rinaldi Express, said they could have sold a further 60 tickets had there been room for all who wanted to attend.

He said: "We really were thrilled with how it went – we had a great response from all the people there on the night."

"It is the first time we've held a night in aid of the hospice, but it is such a good cause. We try to do one charity gig every year, and this year it was the turn of the hospice. We were delighted to be able to help."

On Friday Ian Norris, hospice community fundraiser, met Dave at the hospice shop in High Street, Haverhill, to thank him for the band's efforts.

Ian said: "Everyone who attended enjoyed outstanding music and a great atmosphere."

"The hospice is grateful to them all – and Rinaldi Express and the Taste of China – for their generosity."

Amnesty nets 100 knives from town

MORE than 100 knives or sharp objects have been handed in at Haverhill during a police campaign.

Suffolk Police have collected more than 1,000 items in knife amnesty bins since last December, as part of the Bin a Blade campaign, including a mobile bin which is currently at Haverhill police station.

The bins are emptied each month and the latest count revealed there were 116 items

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

at Haverhill.

Chief Constable Simon Ash said: "It is very pleasing to have so many knives taken out of circulation in the county so far. By returning the knives to their raw materials and recycling them, they could be used for something more productive in the future."

"People living and working in Haverhill have taken their opportunity to support the amnesty and make it unacceptable to carry a knife, and items can still be deposited in the bins at these stations during March."

Every month the deposited knives will be taken to Sackers Recycling in Great Blakenham where they will be tipped into their metal shredder and disposed of.

David Dodds, joint managing director, said: "Sackers Recycling supported the previous knife amnesty in Sudbury and I am very pleased to again be able to offer this service to Suffolk Constabulary free of charge.

"From the negative we can make a positive – by recycling the components of the knives they become useful and can be used again."

A number of other initiatives are planned to run alongside the knife amnesty this year, including knife crime patrols and a community TV commercial raising awareness of the possible outcomes of carrying a knife.

Feast East's tasty treats

FOODIES flocked to sample the region's most tempting treats when Feast East returned to Chiford Hall at the weekend.

The food fair, which is in its 17th year, celebrated more than 90 producers from Suffolk, Essex, Cambridgeshire, Bedfordshire, Hertfordshire and Norfolk as they showcased pates, chutneys, cheese, meat and wines.

As well as sampling and buying from the varied stands, visitors on Saturday enjoyed demonstrations from The Events Show Kitchen.

The festival was supported by Cambridge Newspapers' magazines Cambridgeshire Journal and Style.

Emma Owen, co-director of organisers Oakleigh Fairs, said: "The weather held, the crowds came and many stalls sold out early.

"Feast East celebrated the very best in local produce. Thanks to everyone for making it a success."

Much love for town's businesses

COMPANIES have been successful in 'spreading the love' during a national campaign.

Several companies in the Haverhill area got high ratings during a two-week campaign by marketing company, thebestofhaverhill.

Testimonials were posted on 'thebestof' websites around the country in support of local businesses in the run-up to Valentine's Day.

Based on the number of testimonials received CXG Property Services was the second most-loved letting agent in the country and Andy Pantling accepted a certificate on behalf of the company.

Arevolution beauty sanctuary was the fourth most-loved beauticians in the country. Theresa Foddering accepted a certificate for her team.

Jennifer Bradnam, from Travel Counsellors, is part of the fourth most-loved travel agent and holiday company in the country and Paul Donno and Company came in as the fifth most-loved accountants in the country.

The most-loved business in Haverhill, with 141 testimonials, was arevolution. In second place with 66 testimonials was photographer David Doughty at the Gallery and in third place with 44 testimonials was Paul Donno.

Elaine Carr, owner of thebestofhaverhill said: "It is obviously easier for some businesses to receive testimonials from their customers than for others.

"For this reason part of the campaign focuses on the most popular business categories on 'thebestof' and identifies the most-loved businesses nationally within those categories based on the number of testimonials they have received.

"For a small town Haverhill did really well with four of our business members in the top five most-loved businesses in their categories. It goes to show that although Haverhill is a small town it is full of talent."

All smiles: youngsters from Cartwheels Daycare Nursery celebrate an Ofsted report which deemed it be 'good' in all the areas assessed in its latest inspection.
Picture: Keith Jones 717974.

Party time for 'good' nursery

YOUNGSTERS at a children's centre were given a party to celebrate its positive Ofsted report.

The Cartwheels Daycare Nursery, at Greenfields Way, Haverhill, was rated as 'good' in all areas after its latest inspection in January, with the overall quality of provision rated as 'good'.

Manager Faye Anderson said the centre knew an inspection was due, but did not expect it to be in the first week of term.

She said: "We are all really pleased. It went really well."

"The staff members are always thinking of the children first and have a special feeling for them, and I think that has had a big impact."

"We have several people doing foundation degrees and they are always looking to develop further, being creative and coming up with new ideas."

The report said staff and parents worked effectively to build their relationships, and offer children a secure and inclusive environment that reflected their unique backgrounds and abilities.

Children's independent learning was well developed and they showed high levels of confidence and self-esteem.

The report said: "Generally good systems enable staff to plan and provide a stimulating range of age-appropriate activities that effectively cover all the areas of learning."

"The management team has a clear understanding of the priorities for development, ensuring the setting has a strong capacity to maintain continuous improvement."

Areas which could be improved include effective and consistent use of observations in order to plan for children's next steps, a review of staff deployment in the outdoor area to ensure children make full use of all the amenities and ensuring staff have an up-to-date understanding of the new policies and procedures to implement them appropriately.

Partnerships with parents were good and staff worked hard to involve parents in daily routines.

Strategies to help parents and children who have English as an additional language were well established and staff worked with other professionals to develop individual learning plans for children who have special educational needs or disabilities.

The report said: "Children are happy and motivated to learn in this well-equipped and welcoming environment. They receive a warm welcome from staff when they arrive and settle easily to their play."

"The key person system ensures each child's individual needs are known and met. Staff speak knowledgeably about the children in their care and know them well."

Beware bogus claims on organic foods

BOGUS claims that food is organic or handmade are being made by establishments across East Anglia, according to a recent survey.

Suffolk Trading Standards carried out a survey which revealed that businesses were misleading customers with 'locally sourced', 'handmade' and 'organic' food.

As part of a larger national survey, they visited village stores, garden centre cafes, hotel restaurants, pubs, farm shops and delicatessens to assess claims made.

Officers looked into 180 individual claims and scrutinised menus and invoices, with 31 of the 180 found to be false.

They found a freezer full of 'homemade' pies sourced from a national wholesaler which were re-labelled.

County councillor Colin Spence, portfolio holder for public protection, said: "When people are prepared to pay more for local, free range and handmade products it amounts to food fraud when they don't get what they are paying for."

John's funny stories for cancer sufferers

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

PROSTATE cancer is no laughing matter, but two men who have suffered from the disease have joined forces to pen a book of humorous tales.

John Snell, who has now retired from his job at International Flavours and Fragrances in Haverhill, raised £2,500 from his first book, How Things Were, in 2008.

It focused on his experiences playing in a band called The Ketas during the 1960s and supporting bigger bands, including the Beatles.

The money from the book was divided between St Nicholas Hospice Care and the Marie Curie cancer charity.

Now John and his brother-in-law, James Ridington, have embarked on another charity book, Been There, Seen It, Done It.

The book is a collection of humorous, rhyming tales, which are written by John and illustrated by James. The first year's royalties from the book will be divided between James's charity choice, Dereham Cancer Care, and John's share will go to Prostate Cancer.

John, who now lives at Ixworth, said: "Time marches on and I am retired now, but continue to write. I have written a play based on the book entitled Band of Hope and Glory and its sequel.

"My journey then took me into poetry and rhyme. Some 400 poems/rhymes later I have just published my follow up book.

"In my desire to encourage people to laugh I have selected 55 from my portfolio of over 400 and put them in my new book.

"Both James and I have had prostate cancer and James is still receiving treatment.

"I am just signing up to become a Prostate Cancer media talker, volunteering to be interviewed about my experiences."

The book is on sale for £7.99, and can be ordered online through Amazon.

Computer museum is set to leave town

Two high-profile Cambridge tech businesses are spearheading the foundation of a new world-class Cambridge Computing History Museum.

As reported in last week's Weekly News, Red Gate Software and ARM have both donated substantial funding for the project.

The Centre for Computing History was started in Haverhill in 2006 to explore the impact and tell the story of the Information Age. The plan is to relocate the museum to Cambridge, in the city where so much of this story has unfolded.

The search is on for a building to house this internationally significant collection of vintage computers, artefacts, memorabilia, and associated documents.

With over 12,000 items, including historic machines like the Altair 8800 – the first home computer – the Sinclair Spectrum, Commodore 64 and the Acorn Atom, space is an issue. The museum needs around 10,000 sq ft of rented accommodation, within walking distance of the city centre, to showcase the collection and provide storage.

The plan is to create a permanent, purpose-built museum.

ARM is providing temporary storage for the collection, a fraction of which is displayed at a temporary site in Haverhill.

Cambridge is the natural home for the Centre for Computing History in the UK. Charles Babbage, widely regarded as the father of computing, read Mathematics at Trinity College.

The city also generated Acorn Computers, developer of the BBC Micro, and Sinclair Research, creator of the famous ZX81 and ZX Spectrum computers.

Jason Fitzpatrick, chairman of the museum trustees, said: "The centre stands poised at a definitive moment. There are still hurdles to overcome, much to do and more money to raise but relocating this museum is fast becoming a reality.

"Organisations have a unique opportunity to make an enduring contribution to computing history and play a key role in shaping the museum's future."

Neil Davidson, joint chief executive of Red Gate, said: "I, and many people at Red Gate, have an enormous personal debt to the UK computer industry of the 1980s. We cut our teeth on BBC Micros and Sinclair Spectrums: they made us who we are."

Entrepreneur and co-founder of Acorn Computers, Dr Hermann

Hauser, said: "It would be wonderful if a computer museum was opened in Cambridge to celebrate the many historic milestones Cambridge University and local companies have contributed to."

Mr Fitzpatrick said: "The story of the Information Age is inspirational. It is still waiting to be told in this country.

"Cambridge played an integral role in that story. If we can turn our vision into reality, the Centre for Computing History will be another gift from Cambridge to the whole world."

Time machines: from left, Neil Davidson, joint chief executive of Red Gate, Mike Muller, of ARM and Jason Fitzpatrick, chairman of the board of trustees of the Centre for Computing History.

CP

MORE than £1,000 was raised from online donations in a few hours towards the cost of a new computer museum.

A fundraising campaign was launched on Twitter to help raise capital for the Centre for Computing History to move from its current base in Haverhill to Cambridge. In less than 24 hours it produced a total of £1,200.

Jason Fitzpatrick, chairman of the trustees for the computer centre, said: "Our groundbreaking, grand ambition of establishing a computing history museum in Cambridge is looking more and more achievable every day.

"This social networking campaign has already raised over £1,000 in a matter of hours, so could it really be possible for an online virtual community to play a direct part in creating a real life computer museum?"

The museum is a registered charity. To help with funding, memorabilia or a suitable building for the museum, contact Jason Fitzpatrick on (01440) 709794 or info@computinghistory.org.uk

Dramatic fall in rural crime

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

RURAL crime has dropped in an area which had suffered from high levels of burglaries from sheds and out buildings.

The latest crime statistics reveal a 31 per cent decrease in burglaries in the Rural South area of St Edmundsbury, with 45 fewer victims up to the end of February this year, compared to the same period in 2009/2010.

The area had seen a particular problem with burglaries of items such as lawnmowers and power tools from sheds, garages and outhouses on farms and rural properties since late 2009.

But there has been a dramatic fall in crime following work of the St Edmundsbury Rural South Safer Neighbourhood Team (SNT).

A recent survey revealed victims of crime in the district were satisfied with police action, although only nine replies were received from 45 residents it was delivered to.

It showed 87.5 per cent of residents surveyed who reported a crime to police were "very or fairly satisfied" with how the crime was handled.

A third of respondents felt their rural location has no effect on the service they receive from police.

Some responses even noted a positive effect noting "local community police make themselves visible" and there was now a "noticeable police presence".

And 62.5 per cent stated that they felt very or fairly safe in the area.

Sgt Kevin Horton said: "It is disappointing we've only had nine responses to the survey at the moment. However, it captures a small glimpse that victims of crime feel the police response has been very effective.

"The reduction in crime is excellent news for residents and business owners in the area.

"There was a very noticeable increase in burglaries of outbuildings and sheds in late 2009 and early 2010, but due to the hard work of SNT officers, crime reduction officers and neighboring police teams, a clear message has been sent to offenders that crime will not be tolerated.

"This sort of crime is now no more prevalent than in any neighbouring area."

Police warning of bogus callers at census time

DISTRACTION burglars could use this month's census as an opportunity to target vulnerable people, police have warned.

The census takes place on Sunday, March 27 and Suffolk police are reminding householders to be vigilant and check the ID of any callers.

Each household will receive a census questionnaire this month, to be returned completed. Anyone who does not return it will have a census collector visit their home.

All census staff will carry an ID card with a photo, logo and hologram. Census collectors may ask for the names and number of residents, but will not ask for details like credit card or bank information.

Residents will not be asked to leave their questionnaire on the doorstep for collection and can request a pre-arranged appointment with a collector, via the census helpline number, 0300 0201 101, or check online for details at www.census.gov.uk

Police advise that if residents suspect any caller at their door is not genuine, call police immediately on 999.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Tim Law feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service the Cambridge, Ely, Saffron Walden, Haverhill, Royston & Newmarket areas and Tim is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. "The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated."

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Tim a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Dancers dazzle on Phantom's West End stage

YOUNG dancers enjoyed the experience of a lifetime as they performed at the London theatre which is home to Phantom of the Opera.

The 23 children, aged 6 to 13, who attend the Lisa Mason School of Dance in Haverhill, took part in a show at Her Majesty's Theatre.

They had been rehearsing two numbers for the show since Christmas and were one of 10 schools from around the country invited to take to the stage.

They performed two routines, Taplastic, performed to a medley of chart music, and a ballet danced to the Ugly Duckling and performed to Tchaikovsky's Swan Lake. The children even got to use a dressing room used by the Phantom of the Opera cast.

Lisa Mason said: "We left Haverhill at 8am and didn't get back until gone midnight."

"It was an extremely busy day of rehearsing the whole show in costumes with the technical team."

She added: "The children enjoyed the experience and didn't want it to end."

"They got to dance and work with a production team on a professional West End stage."

"It was an amazing privilege for us to have such an opportunity in such a famous and beautiful theatre."

"In the show the children danced beautifully and looked stunning in their costumes. They danced superbly, and staged their routines very well."

Stunning: the young dancers in their costumes at Her Majesty's Theatre, London.

Ambulance contract end

THE East Anglian Air Ambulance (EAAA) has severed its contract with Sterling Aviation with immediate effect. Sterling Aviation had provided EAAA with helicopters since 2001 but suspended its service to the charity in February because of operational issues. A spokeswoman for the charity said: "Sterling Aviation were unable to give the East Anglian Air Ambulance assurances as to when the service would be recommenced." Bond Air Services is providing helicopters for EAAA until a permanent contract is awarded. Steve Whitby, deputy chief executive at EAAA, said: "Whilst the situation with Sterling Aviation is regrettable, we continue to operate to the highest standards possible." A spokesman for Sterling Aviation declined to comment on the contract's end.

Thieves hit restaurant

THIEVES threw a stone ornament through a glass door at a restaurant, and then stole two bottles of alcohol from inside. The incident happened at the Friends Chinese restaurant in Mill Road, Haverhill, between 9pm last Friday and 1pm the following day. In the same road between 5pm last Friday and 9am the following day, entry was gained to a Rover car parked, and a sat-nav and stereo fascia was stolen. Anyone with information relating to either incident is asked to contact Haverhill police on (01284) 774100.

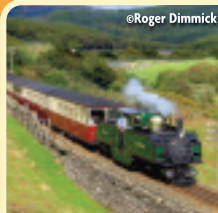

Cooking for single men

SINGLE men who would like to learn to cook can attend a free course starting later this month. The free six-week basic cookery course for single men aged over 50 and living in the Haverhill area starts on Monday, March 21. It will be held at the café at Haverhill Library in Camps Road, every Monday from 9am-11am with a second group from 11am-1pm. For more information, contact Haverhill Library on (01440) 702638.

Support Marie Curie Cancer Care

You can make a difference...

Cancer is the UK's biggest killer. Every year it claims the lives of more than 150,000 people, with a further one million living with the disease at any one time.

Marie Curie cancer care is working tirelessly for you and your loved ones by challenging the disease through its work in cancer and research.

Every year the charity provides care for around 25,000 cancer patients and their families entirely free of charge.

In the community, high quality Marie Curie Nursing gives terminally ill people the choice of dying at home, supported by their families.

At our 10 Marie Curie Hospices, we actively promote quality of life for patients and again provide much needed support for their carers. The charity is also investigating the causes of cancer and better ways to treat the disease at the Marie Curie Research Institute.

Silver award for Havebury

AFFORDABLE homes provider Havebury Housing Partnership is celebrating after being recognised as one of the region's most environmentally-friendly housing associations.

The partnership, which manages around 6,000 homes in Haverhill, Bury St Edmunds and surrounding villages, was awarded silver in the SHIFT Index, a sustainability benchmark for housing associations.

The SHIFT index was developed with the support of WWF UK, the Tenant Services Authority, Homes and Communities Authority and the UK

Green Building Council.

Companies signing up for the index are measured against a set of targets for reduced carbon emissions, designed to fight climate change and a broad range of other environmental impacts.

Karen Mayhew, chief executive of Havebury, said: "This award goes to show that by making changes to the way our business operates, we can minimise our environmental impact."

"The report highlighted we have low water usage in the offices and divert high levels of office waste from landfill. It also noted we are investigating the feasibility of installing renewable technologies on a high percentage of existing homes.

"The board is keen we follow recommendations in the report and I know employees will be keen to work to achieving a gold award."

Andrew Eagles, SHIFT secretariat and managing director of Sustainable Homes, said: "SHIFT provides an independent assessment of sustainability."

"Havebury Housing Partnership is standing head and shoulders above the rest of the sector. A performance of silver is extremely admirable."

The butterfly has landed

Barry Cryer is back at Haverhill Arts Centre with a new show, Butterfly Brain, which is billed as a stream of unconsciousness and sit down comedy!

Join old Baz as his advanced years take their toll on his memory, causing him to get distracted and lose his train of thought.

Come with him on Saturday, March 19 at 7.30pm as he embarks on an odyssey of oddities – from Aardvark to Zulu. Flabbergasted means appalled at how much weight you've gained!

For the first time, he can claim to be a man of letters, even including X. Bear with him, or Winnie the Pooh and Tigger as they were known. Next to Baz you will spot Colin Sell at the 'P&O'!

One of the country's greatest comic writers, and unchallenged King of the One-Liner, Cryer has appeared in TV and radio shows spanning more than four decades.

He has written for such notable greats as Tommy Cooper, Les Dawson and Morecambe and Wise.

Tickets are £18.50.

“The Switchover Help Scheme made my switch to digital TV easy”

You may be entitled to help, just like Jean if you're 75 and over or eligible disabled.

“I love watching telly. Feet up with a cuppa, watching Bargain Hunt. Paradise.

But something came between me and my telly. They call it ‘the digital TV switchover’. It’s when the analogue signal is turned off and you start to lose your TV channels, unless you’re ready. It comes to this area soon and will affect every TV in your home that isn’t ready for switchover. No point sticking your head in the sand hoping it will go away. It needs sorting.

Help is at hand

As it turned out, there was no need for me to fret. I discovered that everyone 75 and over or eligible disabled was entitled to help switching one of their TVs to digital. I didn’t even have to ask. An information pack from the Switchover Help Scheme just turned up one morning in the post. It’s run by the BBC. For £40 they will arrange for an approved installer to supply and install everything. If you’re eligible and also on certain income-related benefits you don’t pay a penny. There are also other digital options to choose from, but they may cost a bit more.

Alan came and set everything up for me. He even took time to show me how to use it. He explained that there were no hidden costs either. In fact the only surprise I got was when Alan showed me all the extra TV channels I could watch for free. When he finished at mine, he went next

Alan the installer

Well, they didn’t have to tell me twice. I rang up the freephone number and got the help I was entitled to. The lady at the Help Scheme arranged for someone to come round and a very nice fella called door to Peggy’s. Although she already had digital on her living room telly, she was still entitled to help switching one TV, so he sorted out the TV in her bedroom which she watches a lot.

The help continues

The help doesn’t stop there. There is an aftercare service which is very reassuring while you’re getting used to things. You can call up if you have any problems. So if you need a little extra help, it’s there.”

What should you do now?

Everyone who is entitled to help will receive an information pack from the Help Scheme. But if you’d like to apply now, you can call free on 0800 40 85 900 or visit helpscheme.co.uk

Romeo and Juliet updated

THE second performance of the greatest love story ever told, Romeo and Juliet, transported to the 1960s by Stoke College, is taking place tonight at 7pm at Haverhill Arts Centre.

They promise an evening packed with drama, dance and song, in this unique interpretation of Shakespeare's masterpiece.

■ Chas and Dave return to the arts centre on Saturday as part of their final tour. A good time is guaranteed as the legendary duo belt out all the audience favourites.

■ Eastern Angles, return to the arts centre with Up Out o' the Sea on Wednesday, March 16 at 8pm.

In a small town on Suffolk's eroding coastline, life goes on pretty much as usual until Carrie arrives investigating a 30-year-old lifeboat tragedy. As lost lives and loves are dredged to the surface the past becomes clearer and locals learn to face up to the future.

■ At the arts centre cinema, The King's Speech, starring Guy Pearce, Helena Bonham Carter and Colin Firth, is showing on Friday, March 18 and at 7.45pm and on Wednesday, March 23 at 1.30pm.

There is an additional showing of Made in Dagenham tomorrow at 7.45pm.

■ For more details and tickets, phone (01440) 714 140 or go to www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk

Ship-shape cast tell tales from high seas

BY JENNIFER SHELTON

THEATRE company NIE drop anchor in Cambridge for the UK premiere of their brand new show, Tales from a Sea Journey, next week.

From rambunctious shanties to captivating tales of those lost at sea, the show pitches from tragedy to comedy in the blink of an eye.

Tales from a Sea Journey captures the lives of a host of seafaring characters, including a Second World War naval officer sailing across the Indian Ocean to escape the Japanese soldiers and the heartfelt story of Ellen, a young fisher girl from the north of Norway who gets lost at sea.

The stories flow alongside the real experiences had by the NIE ensemble when they made their own sea voyage last year.

Ideas for the show were first ignited back in April last year when eight of NIE's ensemble of European artists ventured south into the high seas and travelled from Le Havre in France to Guadeloupe in the West Indies. But this was no cruise; sailing on a working cargo ship the cast and crew were given a first-hand insight into life at sea, providing them with a perfect starting point for the making of the show. Rehearsal time was then spent in Denmark, Norway and the UK before the show had its world premiere in January as part of the NIE 10th anniversary festival in Oslo.

NIE are a company of actors, musicians, set designers and theatre directors from all over Europe who have been working together for more than 10 years. Their celebrated style of physical theatre has been performed in 27 countries, delighting audiences from New York to Shanghai.

Tales from a Sea Journey weaves a combination of true historical stories and the first-hand experiences of the cast to capture the ruthless, magical and mysterious spirit of the sea.

■ Tales from a Sea Journey, The Junction, Cambridge, Tuesday and Wednesday at 8pm. Tickets cost £12 (£6 concessions). Contact (01223) 511511 / www.junction.co.uk

It's Ugly, but very funny!

DOUBLE If Comedy Award nominee Andrew Lawrence is rounding off his first ever UK tour, stopping by The Junction in Cambridge this evening.

With seven years experience performing under his belt, in his Too Ugly for Television tour Lawrence draws on his distinctive curmudgeonly world-view and tongue-in-cheek misanthropy with by a playful upbeat performance style and unaffected honesty.

The show premiered at last year's Edinburgh Festival to sell out performances and critical acclaim.

Too Ugly For Television is, in fact, an unfulfilled prophecy as the ginger-quaffed comic has already recorded a much sought-after stand-up segment for Michael McIntyre's Comedy Roadshow. He can also be heard on Radio 4 with his own series, What To Do If You Are Not Like Anyone Else.

Tickets are £12 (£10 concessions). Book at: (01223) 511511 / www.junction.co.uk

The big film

RANGO
certificate PG 107m

COMPUTER-animated heroes come in all shapes and sizes.

A tiny clownfish called Nemo, a weedy Viking boy called Hiccup and a flatulent green ogre called Shrek overcame the odds to become unlikely masters of their destiny. The underlying message of these films is clear: all creatures can achieve greatness with hard work, courage and good luck.

Director Gore Verbinski lassos this heart-warming sentiment and corrals it to the Wild West for a roarin' tootin' adventure in the company of a comic chameleon.

Rango is an amusing romp and John Logan's script is peppered with earthy one-liners that should have parents and teenagers chuckling.

However, families who are prospecting for box office gold should beware: Verbinski's film doesn't cater for young viewers. There's no slapstick, almost no cuddly critters and the tone is rather dark, whether it be an armadillo called Roadkill (voiced by Alfred Molina), whose middle section is squished by a tyre on the highway, or the image of several varmints with nooses around their necks, preparing to fall from the gallows.

A lonely chameleon (voiced by Johnny Depp) is stranded in the Mojave Desert, where he meets a desert iguana called Beans (Isia Fisher). She takes him to the town of Dirt, which is on the brink of collapse because the water supply is running low.

Wandering into the saloon, the chameleon re-christens himself Rango and pretends to be a famous gunslinger.

The townsfolk are thrilled to have found themselves a hero and Rango becomes the town sheriff, who must protect the locals from predators including Rattlesnake Jake (Bill Nighy). A mouse called Priscilla (Abigail Breslin) believes that Rango will find water and save the community from extinction.

Rango is a feast for the eyes. The animation is immaculate, down to tiny details such as the way the characters' fur moves in the desert wind or the glint of tears in their eyes.

Set pieces are breathlessly orchestrated including an opening sequence on the highway that sees the hero ricochet at breakneck speed between moving vehicles.

Depp plies his usual verbal schtick as the insecure lizard and co-stars deliver lively vocal performances.

Clever plotting gets results

Good organisation is crucial in any vegetable plot – as well as a great memory if you haven't enough labels to hand when you first plant out your veg.

Planting the same crop in the same place year after year can be a recipe for disaster, as the same nutrients are sucked up and pests and diseases pertinent to that crop may still be around.

So crop rotation, an extremely old system invented by farmers to control pests and diseases before the days of pesticides, is a good way to maintain good soil hygiene and keep it more evenly balanced, with the addition of lots of organic matter where it is needed, of course.

The traditional method is to divide the ground into three or four plots or beds then move groups of vegetables with similar needs from one bed to the next annually.

By grouping the greedy feeders together in one area you can maximise its value, perhaps as it may be necessary to manure only that one area per year. Then the plot you add organic matter to is changed each year so that the whole garden is manured every three years.

The three main groups are legumes (peas, beans, spinach, Swiss chard, sweetcorn), brassicas (the cabbage family, sprouting broccoli, cauliflower, kale, swede, turnip,

by Hannah Stephenson

Brussels sprouts) and root crops (carrots, celeriac, beetroot, garlic, courgette, parsnip, tomato, onion and shallot), with potatoes in a fourth bed. Permanent crops such as asparagus and rhubarb can be grown in a plot which is not rotated.

Fit in salad leaves wherever there is space, which is often in the gaps between rows of bigger, slower crops, and try to be organised enough to sow lettuces every couple of weeks in summer or you'll end up with a glut of lettuces one week and none the next.

If you have a small garden and only room for a few vegetables, simply don't grow an individual crop or a particular group in the same place for two consecutive years.

Organisation is key. Draw a plan of your plot and mark up what you want to grow, how long the crop is likely to occupy the ground and how much space it will take up, along with what you want to follow it with. It's a tall order to be that organised, but it will stop you ordering far too many seeds and plants which you won't have room to grow.

Some crops occupy the ground for most of the year, such as sprouting broccoli, winter cauliflower and Brussels sprouts. Others are fast growing, such as radishes, salad leaves and spinach, which can utilise space in between slow-growing crops.

Some crops are sown in spring and harvested by midsummer, giving you space to grow something else. If your early potatoes are dug up in June, the space they leave could be taken up with frost-tender vegetables such as French beans and courgettes.

Crops such as broad beans, which are over by mid or late summer, can be followed by spring cabbage or quick-growing salad crops which will last to the autumn if they are protected with horticultural fleece.

Some gardeners believe that certain vegetables grow better planted next to particular neighbours. Good companions for beetroot, for instance, include cabbage, green beans and onions, but don't put them with tomatoes or asparagus.

Onions are good plant partners to carrots, leeks, lettuce, parsnips and tomatoes, but may not do well planted with green beans and peas.

Whatever space you have, crop rotation and forward planning will help you make the most of your plot and reap huge rewards on the dinner table.

FORWARD PLANNING: vegetable growers need to keep on top of what they are planting – and where.

Agent obtains a key national qualification

A HAVERHILL-based lettings agent has secured a nationally recognised industry qualification, joining the growing number of qualified agents in the UK to do so.

Tom Archer of CXG Property Services passed the National Federation of Property Professionals (NFOPP) Technical Award in Residential Lettings and Property Management, the industry standard for all agents working in this field.

It is the required qualification for entry to the Association of Residential Letting Agents (ARLA), the only professional, self-regulating body specialising in the private rented sector. The association represents more than 5,000 lettings offices across the UK.

Tom said: "I decided to start my studies as a result of my commitment to proving my knowledge and professionalism, and I am thrilled to have secured the Technical Award. "For me, it is evidence of our professionalism and shows our clients that they are dealing with someone who is knowledgeable and that they trust can do a good job."

The NFOPP award is a level 3 qualification within the qualifications and credit framework. The federation examinations for the qualification cover such topics as health and safety, general law, the legal aspects of lettings and management, residential property lettings practice and residential property management practice. Ruth Lilley, head of membership and professional development, explains: "The Technical Award is designed to offer a flexible, cost-effective route for agents to improve their knowledge and gain a well respected, nationally recognised professional qualification. "I heartily congratulate Tom on his achievement, which represents a commitment not only to developing his career, but also to achieving the high industry standards we as a body seek to promote."

If you are a landlord thinking of letting your property, please call CXG Property Services on (01440) 712216 to arrange a free, no obligation market appraisal.

Terraced home with garden, parking and no upward chain

ON the market for £225,000 is this well-presented terraced house.

The property, situated in Crowland Road, Haverhill, comes with a garden and parking and is being offered for sale with no upward chain.

Inside, the accommodation includes a reception hall, shower room/cloakroom, games room, utility area, kitchen/dining room and a large living room with bay window. Three/four double bedrooms and a large bathroom are also provided. A driveway to the front leads to an integral garage, while a garden can be found to the back. This is laid to lawn and patio with a pond.

For more information or to arrange a viewing, contact Bychoice on (01440) 768919.

So Evoque-ative: The new Range Rover

THE Evoque, when it is launched in the summer, will be the first Range Rover to offer customers a choice between the standard, full-time, intelligent, four-wheel-drive system, which delivers outstanding performance and traction on all surfaces, and a low-carbon, front-wheel-drive option for further enhanced fuel economy.

The Range Rover Evoque offers a smooth and responsive turbo-charged powertrain line-up with the choice of diesel or petrol engines. The updated 2.2-litre turbodiesel has 190PS or 150PS derivatives. The front-wheel-drive coupé version combined with the 150PS 2.2-litre engine achieves sub 130g/km CO2.

The new 240PS, 2.0-litre Si4 petrol engine combines direct fuel injection, turbo-charging and twin variable valve timing to achieve 0-60 in 7.1 seconds.

The Range Rover Evoque has won best production car in the 2011 Car Design News, Car Design of the Year awards. This is the first major international award for the Evoque, which is already shaping up to be a key car for 2011.

The Evoque beat competition from the Alfa Romeo Giulietta and the Audi A7 to take top honours by a considerable margin. The award was presented to Gerry McGovern, Land Rover design director at the Car Design Night, on the opening evening of the Geneva Motor Show.

"I am delighted to accept this prestigious award on behalf of the Land Rover Design team. This is a particularly special accolade as it represents recognition from peers in the industry," said McGovern.

Car Design News editor, Eric Gallina, who presented the Award said: "The Evoque represents the best translation from concept car to production vehicle we have seen in recent times. It's clear to see why it was chosen."

"The Evoque translates the brand identity of Range Rover to a smaller, very relevant product, without becoming retro or derivative," added Joe Simpson, associate editor.

Land Rover also unveiled the Range_e, the marque's diesel hybrid plug-in prototype.

Range_e is based on a Range Rover Sport and features a 3.0-litre TDV6 diesel with an eight-speed ZF automatic transmission. Matched with a plug-in parallel diesel hybrid system it offers a premium SUV that can run as a pure electric vehicle. The Range_e is the first 4WD model from Land Rover to achieve 89g of CO2. It has a top speed of around 120mph and a range of 690 miles.

STUNNING: The Range Rover Evoque.

ON SHOW: The Land Rover Range_e hybrid.

Showroom Sales and Telephone Sales Newmarket

For an application form contact the recruitment hotline on 01638 564787, or email recruitment@ridgeons.net or visit our website.

Closing date for the receipt of application is 18.03.2011

The Ridgeon Group is the leading independent supplier of products and services to the construction industry throughout East Anglia. We provide a working environment that is dedicated towards helping our staff fulfil their potential whilst benefiting the wider community as a whole.

Full Time

Do you have energy, drive, excellent customer service skills and a flexible approach to your work? Then maybe you're the person we are looking for to work in our Newmarket branch

We have two posts available:

Showroom sales - We are looking for a professional, reliable, creative individual to work in our busy showroom. You would be dealing with trade and retail alike as an important part of a very busy branch. Good knowledge of the kitchen and bathroom industry along with CAD planning skills would be an advantage but full training is available.

Telephone Salesperson - We have a successful sales team that is looking to expand. You would be office based, selling building materials face to face and on the telephone to tradesmen and the public. Good communication skills are a must and whilst previous experience would be desirable a motivated and lively person with the right attitude would also be considered.

The Newmarket branch offers a challenging but friendly environment where your contribution really can make a difference.

>> Football: Junior round-up

Sawston Utd 0 West Wrattling 1
Cambridge and District Colts League, under-15A
TOM Pinker's 30th goal of the season settled a thrilling top of the table encounter, but it was at the other end of the pitch that the game was won.

Goalkeeper Jack Vernon earned the man of the match award for a fine performance that included a crucial save in the first half when the score was still 0-0.

However, Wrattling largely dominated the game and Pinker twice went close before he thumped in a long-range free kick 10 minutes from time.

O'Neill then hit the post before Sawston went close to grabbing a last-gasp equaliser when they hit the woodwork on a break.

Haverhill Rov 6 Cherry Hinton A 0
Cambridge and District Colts League, under-13A
ROVERS eventually broke down their struggling opposition and eased to a comfortable win.

Cherry Hinton were content to get as many players as possible behind the ball to frustrate their hosts, and with their keeper making good saves, they made it difficult for Rovers.

However, two goals from Billy Bush, either side of Will Bailey's clinical strike, put Rovers in charge before the break.

The second half turned out to be a repeat of the first, but goals from Paul Jenkinson – the full-back's first of the season – Jordi Smith and Bailey finally killed off stubborn opponents.

Castle Camps 1 Little Paxton 1
Cambridge and District Colts League, under-12A
A FAIR result from the best game at Castle Camps this season, was how onlookers described the hard-fought duel against Little Paxton.

The game was stretched from the start as first the visitors then the home side looked to take control.

Initial Paxton attacks were foiled by sterling defensive work until a misplaced pass led to the away side taking the lead.

They only held the advantage for 10 minutes, though, Finlay Fletcher firing in from 20 yards.

The second half was just as open. Both sides hit the bar – Brandon Westley striking the Paxton woodwork – and home keeper James Sams made an important save.

However, Camps looked to have stolen the points when Owen Thompson's shot was touched in by Deon Whitrid, but the goal was ruled out for offside.

West Wrattling 3 Hundon Hawks 1
Cambs Mini League, under-11B
WEST Wrattling finally got their passing game together to see off Hundon.

The Hawks managed to disrupt Wrattling's normal game until Holden broke the deadlock with the opening goal.

Although the visitors were soon on level terms with a shot that cannoned in off the bar, Harding restored the advantage with a superb strike.

Lindsay and Comer both hit the woodwork before Holden added his second.

Hundon went close to narrowing the deficit but Cordwell cleared off the line and then Overall made a key save.

Fulbourn Inst 1 Aztecs 8
BM Kempton 9v9 League, under-12C
AZTECS did the damage in a clinical first half, which produced a hat-trick for the prolific Tyler Thurgood.

He opened the floodgates, and further goals from Dan Bentley, a rapid double from Toby Goodship, and two more from Jack Steward completed the scoring before the break – Fulbourn narrowing the arrears at 2-1.

However, Aztecs' deadly finishing deserted them in the second half as the home side's tactical changes led to them creating decent openings.

Withersfield 3 Cherry Hinton 0
Cambridge and District Colts League, under-14A
OLIVER Stevenson struck twice as struggling Withersfield helped their cause by completing a useful win against a side who are slipping towards the danger zone. Aiden Course got the other goal.

Wrattling in the Pink for vital victory

Well done: Harry Willett collects West Wrattling under-15s player of the month award from Wayne Starling, co-owner of the award-winning Olde Bull Inn at Barton Mills, who sponsor the award. Willett, a Liverpool supporter from Newmarket, said: "We have had a great season so far and are currently third in Division A of the Cambridge and District Colts League. "Everything at West Wrattling is about the team, but it's great to pick up this individual award." CP

Betts to swing axe?

Peter Betts: "I'll have to make a few decisions about some players that have been off the pace or made individual errors recently."

Rovers' boss could make changes for 'must-win' game

Dereham Tn 3 Haverhill Rov 1
Ridgeons League,
Premier Division

TWO uncharacteristic mistakes from goalkeeper Matt Morrison proved costly as Haverhill succumbed at second-placed Dereham.

The match was goalless with 20 minutes remaining, thanks to a brave performance from the visitors, who lost both captain Marcus Hunt and striker Dalton O'Brien to injury in the first half.

But their hard work was undone when Morrison, who should have gathered, sliced the ball into the path of a Dereham player, who gobbled up the chance.

The shot-stopper then parried a shot back into the danger area and was finally beaten after making a fine second save.

Sloppy defending allowed the hosts to grab their third in a ruthless 10-minute spell, before Anthony Fernandez pulled one back at the death.

"It was close for 70 minutes, and then we made some errors and got punished," said Haverhill manager Peter Betts. "A keeper's errors can have a domino effect on the rest of the team. That's part and parcel of being a keeper."

"When you're playing the top sides, you've got to make sure you're concentrating and not making mistakes."

"Our shape was good, but our passing wasn't as good as it normally is. I'm not making excuses because we made basic errors, but Marcus and Dalton's injuries obviously were a blow."

"It's frustrating and it means Saturday's game at home to Histon reserves is a must-win game now. We have to get three points."

"I'll have to make a few decisions about some players that have been off the pace or made individual errors recently."

Rovers are also due to travel to Felixstowe & Walton United in the league on Tuesday.

Wratting hit by 'snarling' Socon

CHARLIE Farmer launched the comeback as Eaton Socon came from behind to beat 10-man West Wratting 4-1 at home.

And Craig Fleming, the Wratting boss, said: "I warned the players at half time, Socon would come out snarling, but it was game over after 65 minutes."

"It was the proverbial game of two halves."

Tom Day put the visitors in front after just five minutes before Farmer got Socon, who handed a debut to Carl Albone – following his signing from Hereward Teamwear United Counties League side Eynesbury Rovers – back on terms soon after the interval with a 35-yard volley.

Substitute Lee Godfrey edged the hosts ahead before Wratting had Jon Welsh sent off midway through the second half after collecting a second booking. James Griffiths came off the bench to add to Socon's tally before Chris Stanton rounded things off.

Socon manager Neville Cooper said: "It was a good result. They started like trains and looked quite lively and we were perhaps quite lucky to only be 1-0 down at half time."

"But we changed our shape and a couple of players and it turned out quite comfortable."

Luke's just too sharp

LUKE Seaber-Shinn hit a hat-trick as Hardwick crushed the Premier Division's bottom club Hundo 7-0 at home.

Seaber-Shinn set the ball rolling after making the most of an advantage played by the referee in the first half.

He completed his treble with a pair early in the second half before Steve Friend made it 4-0.

Goals from Roy Lavin, Luke Harradine and Gareth Daniels killed the game off. Rod Gaffan, the Hundo player-boss, said: "We know we haven't got players good enough to compete with some of the teams in this league, but we just have to put up with it and keep battling along."

Hardwick manager Graham Daniels said: "They're bottom of the league, so were nervous and defensive, but the goal meant they had to come out and try to catch us."
